

Seacore Power Pictures

Bottom

Stbd side View

Aft view

Port side outboard and inboard propeller

Aft Center Spud can

Aft center Spud can with blank rack

Rudder bottom bearing support

Bottom Hull View

Stbd fwd jack house lower hull connection

Stbd fwd tubular leg NDT

Painting of NDT area

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Bridge view

GMDSS station

Pyrotechnics in bridge

SART

Fire Alarm panel on bridge

Weathertight door on Stbd bridge wing

Port Crane

Main deck form Bridge

Stbd Crane

Air vent pipe

Accommodation view from Main deck

New manhole cover

Air vent pipe stbd forward

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Life bouy ring

Jacking system hydraulic connection

Preload Tank Valve on deck

Stbd Fwd Jacking system

New manhole cover

Embarkation Ladder Stbd side

Liferaft stbd side

Air vent Inside with float ball and gasket

Fire station on main deck aft stbd

Raw water hose reel on stbd aft main deck

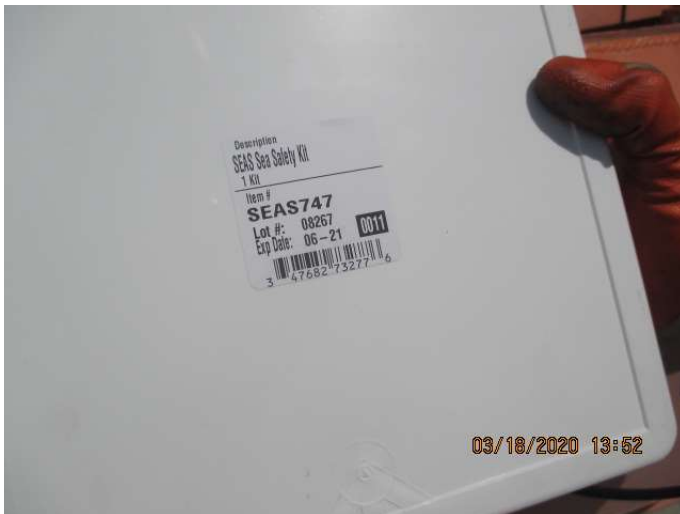

Aft Jack house front view

Aft preload tank valve manifold

Rescue boat wire and hook

Rescue boat first aid kit

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Rescue boat on aft Port side

Life bouys port side aft

Flap cover aft on accommodation

Sewage treatment plant Aft Port side on main deck

Fire Hydrant on aft Main deck behind accommodation

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Air vent Pipe Port side Main deck

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Stbd side Radiator

Emergency Switch Board room

Emergency generator room

Safety Net on heli deck

MOB signal

Trolley Fire extinguisher for heli deck

Top view of Leg house

Bridge aft View

Aft Leg

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Aft Helideck

EPRIB HRU

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

EPRIB Battery expiry

EPRIB Registration Expiry

Life buoys on bridge deck with Life jacket box

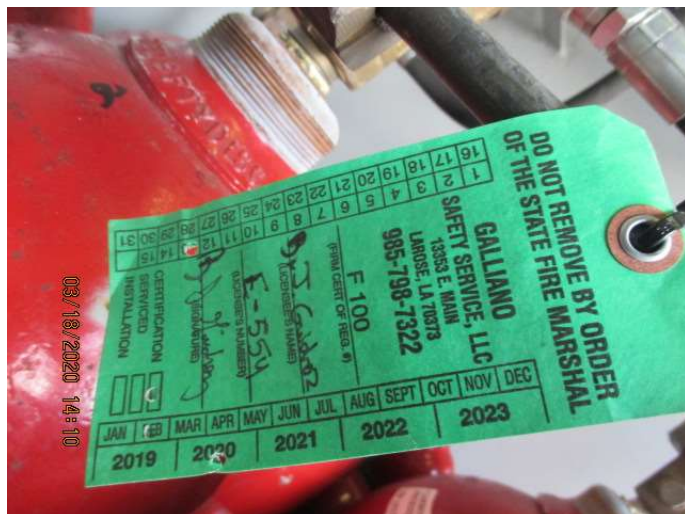

Paint locker

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

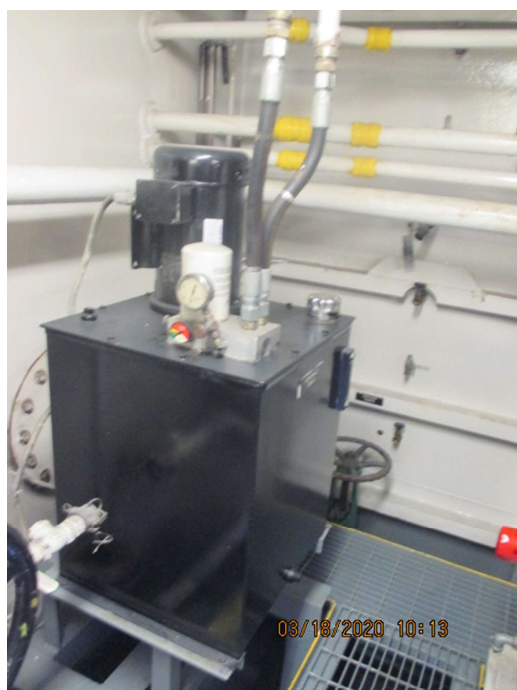

Engine Control Room Switch board

ECR Port side alarm panel

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Hydraulic tank

Engine room bilges

Air compressor

Pressure vessel

Engine room bilges

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Main engine Stbd side engine room

ECR Door Stbd side

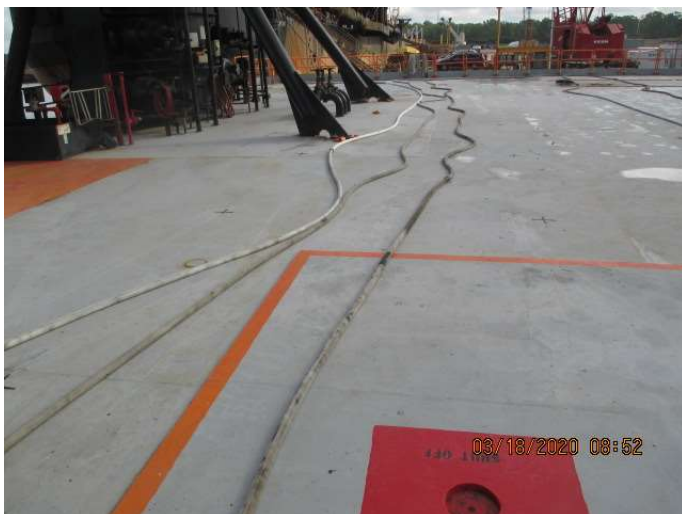

OWS for testing

Fire Pump in Stbd Engine room

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Pressure test of hose

Port engine room

Port fire Pump Pressure gauge

Cable Penetration

Junction Box

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

High Volate rubber mat

Pipe Penetration inside engine room

Cable penetration

Jacking Hydraulic pump on Inboard Main engine

transfer pump

Port engine room

QCV with reach rod

No part of a report of a marine casualty investigation shall be admissible as evidence in any civil or administrative proceeding, other than an administrative proceeding initiated by the United States. 46 U.S.C. §6308.

Aux engine Port side Engine room

Piping arrangement and penetration

Overboard valve

Preload tank valve